Project Six's Adult Group Homes are designed to enable adults with developmental disabilities to function successfully in the mainstream of the community by maximizing self-determination, self-care, direction, and freedom of choice. This program facilitates the development of those skills necessary for each resident to function more independently in a socially appropriate manner. Inherent to the philosophy of the program is the commitment to assist each resident in the development of his/her potential for independence.

Adult Residential Program

- The Adult Residential Program is comprised of four group homes. The homes are licensed as ICF-DD/H (Intermediate Care Facilities for the Developmentally Disabled-Habilitative) facilities under the California Department of Public Health. License #: 960000888, 960000608, 960000775, 960000889
- In the Project Six homes, time is structured to allow each resident to practice the skills inherent to independence. Central to the program is the idea of active treatment. Direct care staff are trained to engage residents and to turn "free-time" into teachable moments toward goal attainment.
- Our residents are over the age of 18 and have been diagnosed with an intellectual disability. They may be dually diagnosed with other developmental disabilities such as autism spectrum disorder and/or mental health impairments.
- All four homes are located in quiet, residential neighborhoods in North Hills, CA.
- All residents are clients of local California Regional Centers. Referrals must be submitted by Regional Center service coordinators.
